[35517] FLORIDA SURVEY - Lake O-Kee-Cho-Bee) A Plat Exhibiting the State of the Surveys of the State of Florida. 1849.

Map, black and white, 21 1/2 x 24 1/2 inches, multiple folds as issued. A particularly clean and bright copy: trimmed to the neat line for 2/3 of left margin, very light foxing at top left border scarcely visible, crease at left edge and one small crease in map.

Surveyor Generals Office. 1849.

A fascinating look at Florida in the middle of the 19th century, with much surveying completed (including along the full length of the east coast), but with the full expanse of the lower interior of the peninsula unsurveyed. There the Everglades are marked with a large Lake O-Kee-Cho-Bee above them. $185.00

Atlas with black and white wood engravings, unpaginated (approx 140 pages), 15 3/4 x 10 3/4 inches, 3 foldout maps on sheets approximately 15 1/2 x 21 inches, cloth-covered boards with leather spine. Text in French. A volume that has been exposed to moisture with dampstaining and evidence of prior mold spotting to first and last few pages. Heavy wear to covers, including rubbing, abrasions, cracking, split to spine at tail, and a warped front board. Rippling from exposure to damp to most interior pages; a few age spots and light marks; one page fully detached: a few short tears to foldout maps, outside neatline; interior in surprisingly good condition overall. Printing remains bright and attractive on ivory paper. Decorative title pages including one with a map of France followed by 86 decorative pages with map and information on the departements, then a foldout map of France with departements listed and identified, followed by decorative sheets on Algeria and Belgium, then two highly decorative foldouts one documenting animals of the world and one with the two hemispheres surrounded by decorative vignettes. This is followed by a History of France section. Sold with all faults.
No Place of Publication. 1842. Interior page copyrights vary (1830s). 5th Edition

A volume with an unpromising exterior reveals a stunningly illustrated collection of information about France and the world, with maps incorporated into delicate vignettes and surrounded by decorative text. Editor and cartographer J. Henry believed in making all his work as beautiful as possible. WorldCat notes four holdings OCLC for this scarce title, two in the US and one each in France and England. $465.00

Color pictographic map, 22 x 16 1/2 inches including decorative border, folding to pamphlet 8 3/4 x 4 inches. Very good condition.

A most decorative and historically interesting map produced by the Federal Art Project showing the history of what was the Northwest Territory - now the states of Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota.

The map by F. Rentschler uses small pictographs to highlight Indian tribes, significant places and events. Several inset maps show "How the United States Came into Possession of Northwest Territory" and "How the Northwest Territory became States" and "Thomas Jefferson's Conception." On the map verso "The Ordinance of 1787" is reproduced with some historical notes.

The pamphlets were issued with variant back covers, all listing the members of the United States Commission followed by different information: this copy has a decorative design with boxes for the six states, the state of Ohio with six members listed, Indiana with four states listed, Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota with the notation "Legislation in process" and Illinois "Commission authorized." $110.00

Saint Paul Association of Commerce. 1931

This colorful vintage pictorial map designed by Richard H. Burbank is filled with humorous and historical information on Saint Paul. It is one of the genre of 20th century pictorial maps inspired by MacDonald Gill's 1913 Wonderground Map of London Town, with many 'speech bubbles' of both humorous and instructive nature. Verso features "Spotlighting Saint Paul" and other visitor...
[40483] NEW YORK / VERMONT - BIRD'S EYE) Lake Champlain and Lake George.

Pamphlet, 9 x 4 inches, opening to sheet 18 1/2 x 32 1/2 inches with two large color bird's eye view maps; text, deck plans, two single panel color maps and color cover illustrations on verso. 1 inch split to end of one fold with short tear off that fold. Overall very good.

Champlain Transportation Company / Lake George Steamboat Company. 1929.

The two color maps make a wonderful display despite the assertion that "The Charm and Beauty of Lake George and Lake Champlain Can Be Fully Enjoyed Only from the Steamer's Deck."
Upper view (7 x 27 inches) is titled "Lake George The Most Picturesque Resort in America": this stretches from Lake George at the left to Ticonderoga at the right. The lower view (8 3/4 x 30 inches) is titled "Lake George Lake Champlain The Adirondacks The Delaware & Hudson Company. The Champlain Transportation Company. The Lake George Steamboat Company" and shows the area from Albany to Montreal. Both view maps are marked copyright 1927 by M.J. Powers (these are actually the same map views as in earlier editions but with a different copyright). The two small maps on the verso are of Lake George and Lake Champlain, showing the steamboat routes; there is a complete schedule for summer 1929, a plan for the steamer Vermont and small black and white photo illustrations of the 3 steamers: Vermont, Horicon and Chateaugay. Wonderful brightly colored cover graphic. $135.00

Silk crepe de Chine scarf printed with pictorial / pictographic map, pictorial decorative border, approx 29 x 29 inches. Several light stains (up to 3/4 inch), one possible 3/4 stain (looks like it could be a misprint) off the coast of Maryland, 1/8 inch hole to right margin (outside neatline), black dye of text in West Texas area has run slightly. These faults not very noticeable; good condition overall.

John Randolph. Tomball, TX. No date.

Fanciful and fun wearable art reflecting the Texas ego: a more massive than usual Texas takes up the whole centre and south of the United States with the other states squeezed to the northeast and northwest. Colorful pictographs highlight the best of everything in Texas: "prickliest pears," "most cantakerous coyotes" etc and the reach of Texan aspirations. The cartographer is Mark Storm, the scale is one inch = 6 Texas grapefruits. This image was first published as a map on paper in 1948, and appeared in different iterations thereafter. Engaging and fun item to display or even to wear.... $165.00 [55471] CANADA - PROHIBITION ERA MAP) Road Maps of Ontario and Quebec.

Advertising booklet in stiff card covers 6 1/4 x 3 1/4 inches unfolding to double sided sheet 18 x 12 inches. On one side are two maps one featuring Ontario, Canada and portions of the U.S. and the other featuring Eastern Canada including New Brunswick and Nova Scotia and, again, portions of the U.S. On the verso are 12 panels, nine of them illustrated with color images of Hiram Walker's whiskeys (Rye, Gin, Bourbon, Highland Whiskey, etc.) in radiantly hued bottles - a tempting sight. Also, a panel titled "When in Quebec Buyer's Guide." The maps are of central interest, based on text in small print at bottom of sheet: "Key - This red dot indicates location of liquor store." The portions of the U.S. featured on the map are devoid of red dots; this is also the case with Nova Scotia, while to the north, New Brunswick must be satisfied with a scattering of red dots. Research establishes that prohibition existed in Nova Scotia between 1921 and 1930, while New Brunswick suffered the indignity between 1917 and 1927. (Prohibition in the U.S. ended in 1933.) A common-sense interpretation suggests the brochure and maps were published circa 1928-1929, with red dots helpfully directing Canadian - and U.S. - customers to convenient retail outlets. Only one WorldCat listing has been found—The University of Michigan Ann Arbor. Clearly an uncommon item documenting the unquestionable (if doomed) achievements of Canadian and U.S. dryhards. Moderate wear to covers, multiple pinhole separations to map fold intersections, one inch split to top left edge fold; good condition.

[56383] AUSTRALIA - TASMANIA - BLUEBACK SEA CHART) South and East Coasts of Australia (In Four Charts). Chart No. 2, Cape Northumberland to to Cape Howe.

Huge rolled "blueback" sea chart, cloth edge and ties as issued, 40 3/4 x 51 inches, cloth-edged with cloth fastenings.
Three stiff vertical creases from rolling, areas of light creasing and spotting, 3 1/4 inch band of toning/soiling to right edge (appears darker in photograph than in reality), cloth edge partially detached from paper at top left, 1 1/4 inch tear to left edge at center, some notations in pencil and red ink, some towns marked in red. The chart is tightly rolled. Good or better condition.

The tightly rolled is chart one of a series of four charting the South East and East coasts of Australia in the late 19th century, is centered over the island of Tasmania and includes, at the top edge of the map, the coast of the Australian continent from Rivoli Bay in the west to Cape Howe in the east. At lower left and right are detailed inset maps of Hobarton, Port Dalrymple, Port Phillip, Port Western, Portland, Belfast, and Lady Bay. The map is an example of the privately printed maps backed with blue paper (hence "bluebacks"), A label is affixed to the verso: "Chart No. 200. Australia. South-East & East Coasts. In Four Charts. Chart No. 2. Price, 8s." $1450.00

Inc. [highway map from Vancouver B.C. to Tia Juana, Mexico].

Color pictographic / pictorial map, folding accordion style into black paper folder, black and white photo illustrations on verso of map. Some condition issues affect the beginning and end of this very long foldout map, mostly separations along the foldlines: light staining to the very last two panels; two inch split to second to last fold; complete split to fold between Olympia and Centralia, approximately 5 other short splits to folds, 1/2 inch tear to left edge of first panel, tiny paper loss at upper right. The splits would easily be mended with archival tape. The map itself is bright and clean.

The Aristocrat Inc. Portland, OR. 1931.

A colorful "strip map" of the route from Vancouver B.C. to Tijuana, Mexico with color illustrations of landmarks along the way. An illustration on the verso shows "the correct way to hold your map" was that the panels may be flipped over as you follow the route.
